HOME RULE FOR UTAH.

Territorial Policy of the National Democratic Party.

[From the Chicago Platform, June 16-17]

We solemnly declare that the need of a return to these fundamental principles of free government, based on home rule and individual liberty, was never more urgent than now. The tendency to centralize all power at the federal capital has become a menace to the reserved rights of the states.

We approve the action of the present House of Representatives in passing bills for the admission into the Union, as states, of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, and favor the early admission of all territories having the necessary population and resources to entitle them to statehood; and, while they remain territories, we hold that the officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, together with the Districts of Columbia and Alaska, should be bona-fide residents of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed. The Democratic party believes in home rule and the control of their own affairs by the people of each vicinage.

Is Dr. UTTER's case of "all must stand together?"

MONTANA is going to elect the Democratic ticket, sure.

The new commander of the Grand Army is an Ohio man, of course.

GENERAL MANON has taken the veil and become a political recluse.

There were preliminary symptoms of Conference weather yesterday.

DIAR has been re-elected president of Mexico, but where is GARZA?

There is a CANNON belching as a candidate for Congress in an Illinois district. He also will be spiked.

JUST ABOUT the time the autumnal storms are due we are sure to hear from MISSOURI, the cloud-computer.

AT LAST Senator SHERMAN has been smoked out and he is to make twenty speeches in Ohio, beginning last night.

STATISTICS of Massachusetts show a large increase in the birth-rate. Thus we have another vindication of the McKinley law.

IS OUR morning contemporary doesn't care whether BERTON is for CANNON or not, why should it care which side it is on itself?

MR. VARIAN has shown the courage of his conviction on the CANNON question, but Governor THOMAS still wears the JENNINGS-MILLER style of politics.

CAPTAIN D. F. ALLEN of the Indiana state Democratic committee told Governor CLEVELAND last Tuesday that that state would go Democratic by 30,000 majority.

THEY HAVE got after WHITEHEAD REID with a great lot of extracts from the New York Tribune which he edited it in 1872, the year GREELEY ran, or rather crept, for the presidency.

MR. CLEVELAND has gone from Gray Gables to New York, and will remain there till March, when he will again take up his residence in Washington at the White House.

THE CHICAGO Times had a prize for the person who should count nearest guessing the number of words in CLEVELAND's letter of acceptance. One of the contestants guessed 16,000, or about twelve columns.

A PEARL from CLEVELAND's letter: "We will rely upon the intelligence of our fellow countrymen to reject the charge that a party comprising a majority of our people is planning the destruction or injury of American interests."

THE ENGLISH papers interpret CLEVELAND's acceptance letter as attaching him to McKinleyism, instead of to absolute free trade, as they expected. It seems pretty hard for Englishmen to understand American politics, but they are right in saying CLEVELAND is not a free trader.

TO PROTECT the Dakota tin mines which have never started up, and the Tennessee mines, which have lately shut down, the McKinley bill levies a duty of 4 cents a pound on all imported black oxide of tin, and on bar, block and pig tin, the provision to take effect on the 1st of next July.

A MONSTROUS LIE.

Last Sunday THE HERALD printed in its first column, first page, a long special dispatch from its Washington correspondent, referring to the appointment of Mr. BERTON as United States marshal, with the comments upon the same of Mr. JOHN MONROE, a Utah gentleman who is well known. The Salt Lake Tribune in its usual style of recklessness, somewhat more than intimated that the matter was bogus and prepared in THE HERALD office. As the Tribune never says anything about this paper that is true, and has become so addicted to lying about matters and things in general, we paid no attention to that particular charge, intended as it was to discredit our enterprise in securing news for our readers, though at considerable cost. Not to be diverted from commenting upon the reason of BERTON's appointment by this silly story, we said: "Never mind whether that Washington dispatch, telling of the president's action and reasons, was written in THE HERALD office or not." And the Tribune reiterates its first allegation, pretending that THE HERALD has confessed the truth.

One might think that no editor claiming to be respectable or wishing to be thought reliable in his statements would charge another with manufacturing special dispatches unless he had some foundation or plausible support for so doing. But here is one so hardened in telling lies, and so reliant upon his reputation as a liar, that he is no longer afraid of exposure, confident that nobody will take the trouble to show him up. And our doing so now must not be thought to imply a willingness to assume the job of nailing every low falsehood the Tribune utters. Only a few words are required. Every syllable of that dispatch was received at Salt Lake over the Western Union Telegraph lines from Washington, D. C., transmitted to THE HERALD office by the agent here and paid for by us at the usual rates for newspaper special. The books of the telegraph company at its office on Main street will prove this statement to be true. We hereby give the Tribune liberty to examine the original, and challenge it to show that the dispatch as printed in THE HERALD was extended, amplified or altered one iota.

THE HERALD does not expect that the Tribune will retract its craven, libelous charge. To enter upon a work of that kind would entail untold labor, but otherwise it must continue to rest under conviction for willful and malicious falsehood.

THE FUSION IN WYOMING.

A. L. NEW, chairman of the Democratic state central committee of Wyoming, and W. T. O'CONNOR, chairman of the People's party state central committee, have issued statements setting forth the reasons for the fusion of the two parties which has recently taken place. These statements are full and complete, and should make plain to every citizen who does not uphold the present incompetent government the necessity for voting the fusion ticket, made up as follows, the nominees for electors being members of the People's party and the others Democrats who were regularly nominated in the Rock Springs convention:

Speakers of President and Vice-President.
SHAKESPEARE E. SPALD of Albany county.
WILLIAM F. WILLIAMS of Johnson county.
WILLIAM R. RICHARDSON of Crook county.
For Governor—JOHN E. OSBORNE of Carbon county.

For Justice of the Supreme Court—GILSON CLARK of Laramie county.
For Member of the Fifty-third Congress—HENRY A. COFFEE of Sheridan county.

Had it not been for the sudden springing into existence of the People's party, the Democrats would certainly have won at the coming election, so general is the disgust with the present administration. Republicans not in sympathy with their party and who are heartily ashamed of the incompetency, to employ a mild term, displayed by their officials, would have voted the Democratic ticket, although it might have gone against the grain to do so. The People's party gave them an opportunity to enter a protest, and they joined the organization by hundreds. It is said that a reasonably close canvass shows the Populists to be in a majority in some of the northern counties which have hitherto been strongly Republican. But it also transpired that a number of Democrats had also united with the People's party with whose principles they agreed. Just how many of these former Democrats there were cannot be told, though it was clear that whilst the Populists by themselves could do little, they were actually the balance of power in the state. If they put up an independent ticket and stood by it loyally, they would fail to elect as a matter of course, but they might make it possible for the Republicans to win, when the evil against which the better citizens protested would be continued for another two years. There was real danger, and it was that which brought the wise men among the Democrats and those among the Populists together in an effort to join forces and make common cause against the common enemy. The result was the fusion ticket printed above, and which is reasonably certain of election. The state will thus be brought under Democratic control and released, whilst the Democracy will lose nothing they cannot spare. We assume that the electoral votes of Wyoming will be cast for WEBSTER and FIELD, and in this the Populists will find their reward, whilst the Democrats will derive satisfaction from knowing that inasmuch as they might have failed to deliver those votes to Mr. CLEVELAND, who would need them, they have played the game of politics so well that the votes will benefit no other candidate.

Speaking generally, fusion is not good politics. If it falls everybody feels that it was a mistake, and there is more or less demoralization; if it succeeds it leaves something of a bad taste in the mouth. There are times, however, when there is wisdom in the fusion of parties in a common ticket, and THE HERALD is fully convinced that the present is such a time in Wyoming. We join with the two committees in urging loyalty to the ticket upon all Democrats and all Populists.

DELEGATE SMITH RENOMINATED.

THE HERALD is pleased to learn that at the territorial convention at Flagstaff the other day, the Democrats of Arizona nominated Hon. MARCUS A. SMITH for Congress by acclamation. The gentleman is among the brightest and ablest of the territorial delegates, and during his long service in the House has never neglected to work for his territory. Of course, he will be re-elected, and we hope by an immense majority. He is entitled to a generous endorsement, for whilst he is a Democrat his work is all for Arizona. At the late session he succeeded in getting through the House a bill for the admission of the territory into the Union, and would doubtless have succeeded in getting it through the Senate had not the chairman of the Committee on Territories persistently refused to permit the bill to be reported. Senator PLATT stands stubbornly in the way of Democratic territories, and his position at the head of the committee has enabled him to deny justice to the citizens of those dependencies a majority of whose people believe in Democratic principles.

How, however, a change is said to be creeping over the mind of the partisan New Englander, and there are signs of a disposition on his part to relent. It is not improbable that the Arizona admission bill will pass the Senate at the coming session, though if not no discredit will be cast upon Delegate SMITH, who has done all that devotion, intelligence and earnestness could suggest in the premises.

The other day we observed a paragraph in an Arizona paper to the effect that a few Mormons down there had turned Republicans and would not work for Mr. SMITH. The statement was probably prompted by the desire of the author rather than by a strict regard for the truth. Whatever may be said as to the politics of Mormons in some places, it is hard to believe that any Mormon citizen of Arizona could find it in his heart to affiliate with the Republican party of that territory. It is not so very long ago, certainly within two years, that the Republicans in a convention denounced the Mormons in language little less than beastly, and if our memory is not faulty, actually petitioned Congress to disfranchise the Saints as people unworthy the suffrage. If there are Republican Mormons in Arizona they must be newcomers, or men who have short memories and decidedly forgiving natures. We take little stock in the paragraph referred to.

CAUGHT IN TIME.

The proceedings in the federal court at Ogden regarding the registration books of one of the city precincts are interesting, as showing that the Liberals intended to fight for the control of Weber county with the same weapons which they employed to carry Ogden city three or four years ago, and Salt Lake city on two occasions. It seems from the report of the hearing before Judge MINN that the deputy registrar of the precinct refused to exhibit his books to his superior, that he declined to keep his office open this week for the registration of those who had been misled in the house of those visits, and the impression went abroad that he contemplated the listing of names which could be voted on election day by colonizers, repeaters and fellows gathered up along the line of the railway. This is an old Liberal trick and has been successfully played. Everybody recalls the story of how train loads of men were rushed into Ogden three years ago from the east, the south, the north and the west, the polls being kept open after the regular closing hour, in order to accommodate some of the gangs which had been delayed on the railways. In this city the game was played with equal impudence, audacity and success, on one occasion a special train bearing registration officers, running to all the grating and the camps and coal pits along the line of the road, and on one other occasion hobos being openly collected in tents within the city limits and fed and paid until election day from the municipal treasury.

It is fortunate for the honest voters of Ogden city and Weber county that the intended crookedness was discovered before it was too late to prevent its consummation, and it is also fortunate that the judge before whom the case was taken is in favor of fair and honest elections. If prompt action had not been taken the probabilities are the election in Weber next month would have shown a Liberal plurality, notwithstanding the well known fact that there are more Democrats and more Republicans in the county than followers of the graveyard party.

THE TAX HAKE.

It is to be hoped the talk about resisting in court the tax raise imposed on this county by the board of equalization will result in something more than words. If in the opinion of good lawyers the raise can be defeated the necessary steps should be taken. Property in no other county in the territory is taxed as heavily as that of Salt Lake. This county has paid to other counties more than the total tax of the latter. Taxes here have been increased 20 or 30 per cent, within the last three years, until the ownership of non-productive property has become seriously burdensome. We know of valuable improved real estate, business property in the very heart of the city which does not yield enough from the rentals to satisfy the taxgatherer. Valuations have been increased and the taxation raised until the property owner does not recover from the strain to meet the collector's demands before the official is upon him again with a call that is staggering in its effect. It almost seems that all are industriously working for the tax man, the requirements of self being of secondary consideration. This is not the case throughout all the counties, nor is it so in many of them; hence the action of the board of equalization in adding 10 per cent to our taxes cannot be justified on the ground of right, whatever the law may be. It looks as if the board thought the territory needed more money and considered the cash could be more easily squeezed from the property-owners of Salt Lake than from those of other places.

There is enough involved in this raise to warrant a determined fight in the courts, provided the law gives any promise of victory to the taxpayer. That is a matter which should be carefully determined beforehand, and if the decision of able lawyers shall be to the effect that the increase can be defeated, let the community join in the fight.

THE CITY CREEK ROAD.

The mayor is to be commended for having vetoed the Salt Lake and Morgan county road proposition, and now the matter should be dropped. A wagon road through City Creek cañon, across the mountains, down onto the Weber at Morgan City, would be convenient for camping parties and an occasional fisherman, and it might fetch to this city a little of the Morgan county traffic, but the cost of the way would be altogether out of proportion to the benefits to accrue. All the Morgan business which would come over the road wouldn't pay the wages of a man to throw the cobble out of the track, and it will hardly be claimed by any taxpayer that the city treasury is in such a fat condition as to justify the expenditure of money to build a carriage drive half or twenty miles for the accommodation of a few two-wheeled sportsmen who can get "a day off" during the summer. It will be proper enough to maintain a road a few miles up the cañon, on the same ground that it is proper to have roads in parks and pleasure grounds, but it seems to us ludicrous to talk of converting City Creek cañon into a commercial highway.

SOCIETY LADIES, and indeed ladies of all classes, are beginning, or have already begun, to turn their attention to the styles of cloaks, mantles and wraps that will be in fashion this winter. THE HERALD's New York correspondent will enlighten them tomorrow, and the artist's skill will be brought into play to show in how the latest style will look. Another article, also illustrated, will tell them what the most recent decrees are as to the use of stationery, and what novelties to seek.

THE REV. DAVID UTTER is the latest local preacher to butt against THE HERALD's locomotive. It pleases this apostle of the doctrine of "Love Thy Neighbor" to seek an occasion, remote from any duty, to refer to THE HERALD's method of attending to its affairs as "spite work," "small business," etc., and then he proceeds to remark that stealing sermons is very venial and "the practice is quite general in this country." Dr. UTTER's notions relative to a minister pointing in the pulpit as the author of sermons that are borrowed, may coincide with those of persons who illustrate in practice what he teaches, but they differ from the views of church members that sit under their copied ministrations. THE HERALD will not be bothered by any of this kind, and it proposes to be respected or else feared by volunteer assailants.

MR. D. H. PERRY, JR., of Ogden, who is an active and observing young Democrat, evidently wants to make the coming election profitable as well as entertaining. He publishes this card in the local papers: "I have $5,000 to bet that FRANK J. CANNON is not elected delegate to Congress at the coming election in November, 1892. Will bet any part of it in bets of $1,000. D. H. PERRY, JR."

It will be borne in mind that Mr. PERRY is a life-long resident of the city in which Mr. CANNON has passed most of his years, and is therefore familiar with the young gentleman who aspires to a seat in the national Congress.

It seems to be pretty well settled that the managers of the World's fair will disregard that proviso in the bill appropriating two and a half million dollars to that enterprise which prohibits the opening of the exhibition on Sunday. Chicago during the fair will no doubt indulge the European Sunday, both inside and outside of Jackson park. A fine illustration of what the European Sunday is, especially in South American cities, is given in the Brazilian letter of our correspondent, FANNIE H. WARD, in her interesting letter in to-morrow's HERALD.

It is suggested that an international sanitary congress should meet, at some convenient time and place to consider the best means whereby to prevent the spread of cholera next season, and particularly to establish a quarantine against India, the breeding place of the pestilence. This question is ably discussed in an article in THE SUNDAY HERALD, showing by illustration the three routes and the three courses of the dreaded disease, and how it has spread in previous years.

RUSSIA HAS not, it would seem, received up to this time the credit she deserves for the production of beautiful women, the popular idea being that, with exceptions, of course, feminine attractiveness there is not of features. The noted correspondent, Mr. FRANK G. CARPENTER, combats this idea very successfully in the letter from his versatile pen which will appear in our columns tomorrow.

The use of electricity in public displays is taking an extensive hold. At St. Louis next week and later at Cleveland and Chicago, there will be some unique and brilliant designs for illuminations which will excite the admiration and wonder of many thousands. An illustrated article on this subject will appear in to-morrow's HERALD.

It is probably true England will not impose a tariff duty on wheat, but if such a duty had been in operation last year it would have been a terrific blow to American agriculture. Retaliation by Great Britain would produce a tremendous sensation in this country.
